Merry Christmas and Happy New Year from Few Small Fish!

Here is quick update:

I smile today, appreciating your continuing interest in Few Small Fish, and reflecting upon 2009's development.

Briefly, 2009 saw 20 gigs. I thank you for those invitations and your part in spreading the word about my capabilities and desires. We seek to more than double these opportunities to share encouraging music in 2010 as we continue the 'Kingdomvision Goggles' blitz. We also seek to generate additional casual, local, and public opportunities for us to gather together.

Most importantly, I am blessed by your journeying with me. I hold dearly your encouraging words, the wearing of those familiar t-shirts, your acceptance of my music, your statements of partnership or sponsorship through your resources of money, time, and energy spent.

May the Lord bless you and keep you this 2010.

Thank you for journeying with me,
--Jonas

"I felt the pinch of this world, I admit.
I sensed His vibe but I did not commit.
I was hostile to the gospel."

- Lyrics from recent Few Small Fish song "Hostile to the Gospel"
